Mesa, AZ — Mesa Arts Center is excited to announce the 2023–2024 National Geographic Live speaker series. This season will take audiences on extraordinary journeys guided by expert explorers as they uncover the hidden marvels of our planet. From the lesser-known felines of India in "Wild Cats Revealed" to the geological wonders beneath Earth's surface in "Hunt for Sleeping Giants," each show promises to deliver awe-inspiring visuals, compelling first-person stories and groundbreaking insights.

"Mesa Arts Center is delighted to welcome back the National Geographic Live speaker series and our renewed partnership with the National Geographic Society," said Randy Vogel, director of theaters at Mesa Arts Center. "For over 15 years, the series has captivated our audience with their exceptional explorers and storytellers continuing to make the world around us more accessible and inspiring us all."

"We're thrilled to be bringing National Geographic Explorers to Mesa Arts Center for the upcoming season," said Emily Dunham, head of campus planning and operations at the National Geographic Society. "This series brings audiences the behind-the-scenes stories from our explorers live on stage, inspiring attendees to learn about, care for and protect our world."

Season subscription package pricing starts at $119. Renewals and new subscriptions to the series are on sale now at mesaartscenter.com/natgeolive or by calling the box office during regular business hours at 480-644-6500.
